Lowery's Hotel is located on the west side of the Love Point Road a few hundred yards north of the center of Stevensville, directly opposite the old Trinity MP Church (QA-217).

The hotel, now a private residence, was constructed in two stages. The original building is of frame construction, two stories high, five bays wide, and one room deep, with flush brick chimneys at either end of a pitched gable roof that extends out over two story porches on both the front and rear facades. This building was later enlarged by an addition to the north gable. This addition is also frame, two stories high and two bays wide. It extends the full depth of the original building and both porches, forming a T-plan structure with a continuous pitched gable roof.

The principal entrance is in the center bay of the east facade of the original five bay structure. This door is framed with sidelights and a five-light transom, and is flanked by two 6/6 windows on each side. There is a plain door without sidelights

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This large frame building serves today as a private residence but is still known locally as Lowery's Hotel. The two story five bay section to the south is mid-19th century in date and was presumably constructed by the Jeffers family, who purchased 266 acres of land including this lot from Edward Ringgold in 1841. It seems likely that the original building served as a private residence initially, and was later enlarged by the two story addition to the north. The roof was also rebuilt and two story galleries were constructed across both facades. In 1888, the property was purchased by Alexander Lowery, who operated a hotel business. It remained in the Lowery family until 1935.

Description:

Lowery's Hotel, a two-story, frame, gable-roofed building with clapboard siding, is comprised of a five-bay, center-entrance I-house section with a two-tiered, recessed gallery on the front (east) facade to which is attached a two bay section without galleries. The two sections are of uniform depth under a single standing seam metal roof. Two brick chimneys are on the ridgeline, serving original fireplaces in the formal rooms off either side of the center hall. Two brick stove chimneys flank the ridgeline on the northern section of the building. The regular rhythm of the fenestration, echoed by the bays of the gallery, is repeated on the rear (west) facade where the double-tiered gallery is presently only two bays long. The double-hung sash windows have a consistent configuration of six over six. The north elevation is three bays wide with two round-arched attic windows. The south elevation, narrowed by the recessed galleries, has fenestration only at the attic level: two 4/2 windows. The shutters are original.

The interior of the south (I-house) section features a center hall and stairs which retain an unaltered historic appearance with the original staircase, turned walnut newel post, tapered balusters and original door trim with plain corner blocks. A door at the end of the hall leads to a later partial enclosure of the rear gallery. The two first floor rooms are distinguished by their identical wood mantelpieces, original wood flooring and simple window and baseboard trim. Baseboard heating elements were added by a previous owner. The chimney brest of the fireplace in the north room has been exposed and reworked by a previous owner. On the second floor the north bedroom has wood floors, molded window trim on the front windows and plain baseboards with later baseboard heating elements. Evidence of alterations includes a filled-in area of floorboards and the door opening that was cut into the west wall. This door leads to a more recently added room which was originally part of the rear gallery. The room has a carpeted floor and a wood plank ceiling. It leads to an added, mid-20th century bathroom. The south bedroom is similar in appearance to the north bedroom except for the ceiling, which has been refinished with acoustical ceiling tile, the carpeted floor and the addition of wallpaper.

The northern section of the house, believed to contain the public rooms when the building functioned as a hotel, has two rooms and a pantry on the first floor. The east room appears to have its original plaster walls and wood flooring. The door, window and baseboard trimwork is plain. The ceiling has been reworked to expose the "rafters." The stove chimney appears to have been reworked. The west room contains the kitchen, updated totally with mid-20th century finishes and appliances including an accoustical tile ceiling and a vinyl tile floor. The only original feature that remains is the molded window trimwork. The pantry off of the kitchen is a roughly finished room containing the hot water heater. The second floor of the north section has been divided into small rooms off of a wide, lateral hall. Later alterations in plan include an area on the west side of the hall which was partitioned into a contemporary bathroom and a dressing room. All of the rooms have altered flooring, added baseboard heating elements, original window and door trim and plaster walls.

The third floor interior has a finished room on the south side of the central stairs. The middle section has subflooring but is otherwise unfinished. A skylight on the western slope of the gable roof was added by a previous owner. The north section is unfinished except for the floorboards.

Lowery's Hotel is set on a generously sized lot with its street frontage delineated by a 19th century iron fence in partially damaged condition. A gravel driveway runs along the north side of the property. Hedges define the south side. There are no outbuildings.

Significance:

Lowery's Hotel, constructed about 1860, contributes to the architectural significance of the Stevensville Historic District as the one remaining of several hotels or public houses that existed in Stevensville during the early 20th century. It also adds to the character of the district by its location, setting, scale, materials and unaltered exterior. By its historical function as a boarding house and later a hotel, the building is significant for its association with Stevensville's development as a center of trade and commerce for Kent Island following the development of the steamboat terminal in 1866 through the 1920s. It is listed as a contributing building in Item 7, page 4, p. 141.
